SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1919.

NO. 6

ZONING OF SWITCHING DISTRICTS WOULD UPSET RECENT DECISION

Proposed Change Promptly Protested by South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; Would Disarrange Old Rates

That the plan of the district freight traffic committee of the United States Railroad Administration to zone San Francisco's switching limits will nullify some of the advantages gained by South San Francisco because of the recent switching case decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was brought out by Attorney Arthur Roehl at a meeting of the Commercial Development Committee of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco on Wednesday.

A delegation of South San Francisco men attended the meeting to see that the city's best interests were conserved and protected.

The proposal of the district freight traffic committee, which is made up of three railroad men and two shippers, is for the subdivision of San Francisco's switching limits into zones and the graduating of intraterminal switching charges in accordance with these zones. The intraterminal switching charge is now 30 cents a ton of 2000 pounds, with a minimum of $6.50 a car. Under the proposed zone system, it was said, increases would be effected ranging from 10 to 20 cents a ton and bringing the charge in the most distant zone up to 50 cents a ton, with a car minimum of $10.

An industry at Ninth and Division streets, for example, was pointed out as now paying 30 cents a ton on a shipment to an industry on the Bay Shore line south of Fifteenth avenue. Under the zone system, according to Roehl, this charge would be increased to 50 cents a ton, with a $10 minimum.

Roehl Explains Situation

"The effect of this new plan would be to disturb the long-established custom of intraterminal charges and nullify the effect of the Interstate Commerce Commission decision in the South San Francisco case by disturbing the rate parity between industries in this city's industrial section."

"South San Francisco has not yet been included in the zones because the Interstate Commerce Commission decision was made after this plan was proposed. Bay Shore is the farthest removed zone, but the government order that South San Francisco be included in this city's switching area will put that town in the last zone. It is now paying 50 cents a ton, but will be called upon to pay 70 or 80 cents a ton when zoned."

The Commercial Development Committee of the Board of Supervisors was asked by the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to oppose the plan, and the committee has taken the plea under consideration, pending a discussion of the proposed plan with the district freight traffic bureau.

Following a plea made by F. A. Cunningham that South San Francisco interests should not be overlooked in the making of rates, the Supervisors declared that no fear on that score should be felt.

"We consider the city of South San Francisco a part of our own municipality," said Supervisor Wolfe.

The committee of South San Francisco men who attended the conference was made up of P. R. Thompson, F. A. Cunningham, E. H. Edwards, Supervisor Tom Hickey, Dr. F. S. Dolley, E. C. Peck, N. A. Becker and W. H. Dinning.

ENSIGN JACK MARTIN ON TEN-DAY FURLOUGH

Jack Martin, looking fit and resplendent in his recently earned ensign's uniform, is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Martin, on a ten-day furlough. Upon his return to New York, Ensign Martin will make an extended cruise of six months.

Jess Monize has been in South San Francisco several days this week and expects to be mustered out of the army within a day or two.

Charles Genasci is again in civilian life, having returned to his old position at the Bank of South San Francisco, where he has been handshaking his many friends.

LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT JOINS STATE FEDERATION

The South San Francisco fire department is now a member of the State Federal of Municipal Firemen, having joined the organization at its last regular meeting, which was held last Friday evening.

Battalion Chief Spear of the San Francisco fire department is secretary of the Federation of Firemen.

The appointment of Mrs. Nash met with the general approval of the people of the county and she will doubtless be successful in the conduct of her new work.

SCHAW-BATCHER MAN GOES TO JAIL AS WIFE'S HOSTAGE

SHIPYARD FOREMAN SECURES RELEASE OF YOUNG BRIDE BY REMAINING IN CUSTODY.

Former Lieutenant R. D. Sheehy, United States army, and now foreman at the Schaw-Batcher shipyards, spent Wednesday in jail in San Francisco so that his bride of six months, who had been arrested on a charge of passing a bogus check for $40 in payment of rent, might be released. Sheehy was arrested Tuesday on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper. When his case was called before Police Judge Matthew Brady, he said:

"Your honor, my wife has been in prison all night. She is sick. We are without funds. We have had ill luck, things have gone against us and we are in debt and seemingly can't extricate ourselves. I guarantee that my wife will appear in court if you release her on her own recognizance. And I will go to the county jail and remain as hostage."

Judge Brady accepted the proposition.

Mrs. Sheehy says she did not intend to swindle any one, but thought her husband's brother had covered the check.

WILL APPOINT NEW SOCIAL SERVICE COMM.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS ADOPT ORDINANCE GOVERNING ACTIVITIES OF BODY.

The resignations of the Social Service Commissioners were accepted by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, upon motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Hickey, and steps were then taken toward the creation of a new commission, which will be appointed probably next Monday.

District Attorney Swart read a new ordinance governing the appointment, powers and duties of the new commission, and, upon motion of Dr. Thompson, seconded by Supervisor Hickey, the same was adopted. The new commission is to consist of nine instead of seven members, and two members of the board are to be members of the commission. The secretary will be appointed by the commission, and the ordinance provides that in emergency cases the supervisors may grant aid without first referring the applications to the commission.

On motion of Supervisor Brown, Chairman MacBain and Supervisor Hickey were appointed as members of the new commission, and upon motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Francis, Chairman MacBain was authorized to sign all checks of the Social Service Commission pending further action by the board.

RESOLUTION PASSED BY COUNTY SUPERVISORS

In recognition of his worth, the Board of Supervisors adjourned on Monday morning out of respect to the late Jos. H. Nash, County Clerk. Following is the resolution adopted by the board as a further tribute to their deceased co-worker:

Joseph H. Nash, Clerk of this Board of Supervisors, died January 30, 1919.

In his eternal absence we, prone to differ as individuals, presume neither to criticize nor to eulogize.

We seek in a small measure but to speak in due recognition:

For more than twelve years last past he was Clerk of San Mateo county and of this board. He was ever active, aggressive and fearless in the performance of his duty. He was efficient, painstaking and courteous. Though aggressive he has never been officially criticised, nor found wanting in an official duty.

The records of the Superior Court and of this board, as kept by him during the twelve years past, will bespeak his worth until the archives of the county crumble. His countless and devoted friends reflect his valued personality and bespeak the loss that this county and State has sustained.

In recognition, therefore, of Joseph H. Nash and his valued services to this county and State, be it

Resolved and ordered by this board and each member thereof:

That they hereby express to the bereaved widow their sincere sympathy.

That as an expression of confidence they hereby most respectfully request her to carry on the work of her late husband.

That they this day stand adjourned in respect to the memory of their late clerk.

That a copy of this testimonial and order be spread upon the official minutes of this board, there to stand as a public record of this county.

Unanimously adopted and ordered this 3d day of February, 1919, by the following vote:

Ayes—W. H. Brown, J. M. Francis, T. L. Hickey, C. V. Thompson, John MacBain (chairman).

SENATOR HIRAM JOHNSON PAYS TRIBUTE TO JOS. H. NASH

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, in reply to a telegram announcing the death of County Clerk Jos. H. Nash, sent the following message of condolence to Mrs. Nash at her home in Wellesley Park: "I was terribly shocked to have your telegram. You have lost one of the best of husbands, I have lost one of the best of friends, and the State has lost one of its best men and citizens. You have my heartfelt sympathy."

STRIKE AT SCHAW-BATCHER YARD IS AVERTED

MANAGEMENT REFUSES TO DISCHARGE BEDFORD E. DAY, AGAINST WHOM MEN HAVE PERSONAL GRIEVANCE.

The management of the Schaw-Batcher shipyard on Monday flatly refused the demands of the boiler workers at the plant that Bedford E. Day, riveter foreman, be discharged, and prospects of a strike at the big plant loomed for several hours when the men announced that they would quit work unless their demands for the discharge of Day were acceded to.

According to the management of the plant, the grievance against Day is a purely personal one. They speak highly of Day's ability and attribute to him the increasing of the plant's efficiency 100 per cent, with the consequent turning out of a ship a month.

The men held a meeting outside of the company's yard during the noon hour and, after considerable discussion, the less radical of the objectors prevailed on the others and the majority returned to their places when the whistle blew.

According to O. B. Kibele, the men will not press their demand further, and he states that only a few of the agitators failed to return to work.

ENTERPRISE ON FILE AT LIBRARY

Twenty-two files of The Enterprise have been placed in the library for public reference.

The bound volumes cover a period of twenty-two years, from 1895 to 1916, inclusive, and contain all of the city's ordinances and many other items which make them a valuable history of the city's activities for nearly a quarter century.

At the conclusion of each year another file will be added, so that the collection will be complete at all times.

COLORED MAN GETS NINETY DAYS IN JAIL

Joseph Cole, colored, was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail by Recorder Dowd on Monday, following his trial for robbing the Western Meat Company cottages, from which he purloined $65 in cash, a watch, ring and some clothing.

When the robbery was reported to Chief Conrad, Cole had left town and Chief Conrad telephoned the peninsula police to be on the lookout for Cole, who was apprehended at San Mateo on Wednesday and returned to South San Francisco in charge of Chief Conrad.

When arrested Cole had spent $24 of the money he had stolen. He pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary.

SUPERIOR FRENCH LAUNDRY CHANGES OWNERSHIP

H. Speros, former proprietor of the Superior French Laundry on Grand avenue, has disposed of his interests to Antony Panos and brothers. The deal was closed about the middle of January. The new proprietors will make every effort to maintain high-class service and will strive to merit a continuance of local patronage.

MRS. JOSEPH NASH APPOINTED CLERK

NAMED BY SUPERVISORS TO FILL VACANCY CAUSED BY DEATH OF HUSBAND—TWO-YEAR TERM.

Mrs. Lizzie Meta Nash was appointed County Clerk of San Mateo county by the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting held Wednesday morning in Redwood City to fill the vacancy in the important county office caused by the death of Joseph H. Nash.

It was imperative that the appointment be made at once, as no legal papers could be filed until the vacancy had been filled. The County Clerk's deputies automatically lose their official status in case of his death, and consequently no one is qualified to receive legal papers for filing until an official appointment is made.

Mrs. Nash frequently assisted her husband in the conduct of his office and is thoroughly familiar with the work, and with the assistance of the present deputies will be able to handle the important business of the office very easily.

Mrs. Nash was appointed to fill the office of the County Clerk until the next general election, which will be held in November, 1920. This gives her a two-year tenure of office and leaves the selection of a Clerk for the remaining two years of the unexpired

WIFE DENIES SWEETNESS OF CANDY MAN HUSBAND

Although John E. Van Brunt of 58 Boyce street, San Francisco, is a candy man, his wife, Emily, thinks he is not the only sweet thing on earth, for she told him, according to his divorce complaint filed Tuesday, "that if they should separate she could fill his place in three days."

But if that isn't enough, there are other reasons given by the husband. He says Emily, who is a filing clerk in Wells-Fargo's express office, is jealous, has a bad temper, wanted to be rid of him and threatened his life.

They were married August 6, 1917, at San Bruno, and separated in May, 1918.

LIGHT OFFENDERS WILL BE JAILED

SAN MATEO COUNTY OFFICIALS DECLARE FINES ARE INEFFECTIVE.

Declaring that fines have not proved effective in eliminating the headlight glare evil, the officials of San Mateo county have decided that hereafter jail sentences without the alternative of fines will be imposed upon motorists arrested in San Mateo county for violating the headlight regulations.

This decision was reached at a conference between District Attorney Swart, Judge Ray Griffin and officers of the traffic squad of San Mateo county.

Last Sunday night the San Mateo traffic squad made another raid on motorists with offending headlights and forty drivers were hauled into court on this charge. The raid was one of a series held during recent weeks, and the fact that there apparently been little diminution of the evil led to the decision of the officials to give straight jail sentences in the future without the alternative of a fine. San Mateo county is one of the very few counties in the State, if not the only one, which is attempting to rigidly enforce the law against glaring headlights. The large number of fatal accidents on the highways in this county pointed out the necessity of eliminating glaring headlights in order to make night driving safe.

TO THE FRONT

"South San Francisco is coming to the front in the right way. Its Chamber of Commerce has adopted publicity methods and modern means of attracting more industrial enterprises to itself.

"A vigorous publicity campaign will be initiated and carried forward, under the chairmanship of P. R. Thompson, with the Chamber of Commerce of the enterprising industrial center as the sponsor for this work. Mr. Thompson will select a personnel to serve with him on the publicity committee, and South San Francisco, as a result, will surely be heard from wherever it will do the most good. A systematic campaign will be inaugurated to make the place on the map for South San Francisco known everywhere. And prospective investors will soon be well aware of its manifold advantages in every way.

"South San Franciscans are elated at the winning of a switching rate for the community, through the efforts of Mr. P. R. Thompson. Mr. Thompson is modest, and he tersely describes his victory by saying: 'We have gotten from the Commission all we asked for—in short, we have won.'"

LETTER FROM REV. KELLEY AT LAST!

FRED CUNNINGHAM HAS INTERESTING COMMUNICATION FROM WELL-BELOVED CLERGYMAN.

Fred Cunningham is in receipt of a letter from the Rev. Leslie C. Kelley, who at the opening of the war enlisted as a chaplain. Mr. Kelley was exceedingly well liked in South San Francisco, where he was pastor of Grace Episcopal Church.

Following a discussion of business affairs, Rev. Mr. Kelley says:

Mighty glad the fighting is ended. The job that I had on my hands as chaplain in a hospital just back of the lines and in constant sound of the guns was big enough to overwork several chaplains. I could simply do all that the longest stretch possible each day would permit, and trust the dear Lord to do the rest. The Red Cross had workers there writing letters and doing all sorts of things for the wounded and sick, and they helped a lot. And I somehow managed to see all of the seriously wounded and desperately sick, anyway.

When the Yanks pushed the Boche back beyond Verdun, near which place we were located, our hospital was ordered forward, and our advance guard was on the new ground three days after the Germans got out. I arrived there two days later, stealing my way on a motor truck, to the exasperation of the adjutant, who never has been able to quite make out this chaplain from California. I arrived in the night, and he contented himself with scolding me for coming and then warned me of the ground being strewn with hand grenades and potted with shell holes, and to take as few steps as possible in any direction until daylight appeared. In the morning I looked at a sight I shall never forget. In all directions the very ground itself was simply torn to shreds, heaved and thrown about by the awful shelling that the place had received. The railroad running by the place, all laid with Krupp rails, was a twisted, snarling, grinning lot of metal, fit only for the scrap pile back of the P. C. steel mills.

German war material was all over the place. And the doughboys were having the time of their lives. There were numbers of jackrabbits that lived through that awful hell, and scared as they could be were running wild about the country. And the doughboys were chasing them with hand grenades! One jack was so surprised when a big German "potato masher" went off with a bang right in front of him, that he sat right up on his haunches and allowed a small French dog to go up and take him by the neck. Unexploded shells, called "duds," were everywhere, and exceedingly dangerous to touch. They have been known to explode by being moved a sixteenth of an inch. And the play-infected soldiers, regardless of rules, would amuse themselves shooting at them, or throwing grenades at them, just to make them "go off." All the time, the guns were banging away with real war just a little distance off. Near our hospital site an aerial torpedo had been dropped. The hole that thing made in the ground was big enough to put an eight-room two-story house into it, and then have room to spare. It was half filled with water and would have made an excellent swimming pool were it not for the fact that the water was green, indicating that it was charged heavily with poison gas.

After the armistice was signed and the army of occupation began to go into Germany, we were ordered forward. We loaded onto a freight train, made up of American boxcars, in which we lived and moved at a snail's pace and had our being. For ten days we traveled, pulled most of the time by a German locomotive and driven by a German crew, down the beautiful valley of the Moselle, through Lorraine, through Treves (Trier) and Coblenz, then down the Rhine for thirty kilometers, then up to this little town of Prum, where we are now established, using a large German school building for a hospital. We have a general hospital work to do. Two or three wards are kept busy for surgical cases, such as appendicitis, hernia, runover cases from accidents

HERE ARE CITIES WHICH WON HONOR OF NAMING SHIPS

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—Names of the ten cities of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District whose splendid records in the Fourth Liberty Loan bring them the honor of naming United States ships are made public to-day by Governor James K. Lynch of the Federal Reserve Bank. In addition to choosing the name of the ships the cities will be asked to name sponsors.

In Class A, Los Angeles wins the ship honor over San Francisco in percentage of oversubscription, although San Francisco leads all cities of the district in amount of subscriptions with a total of $110,836,150, which is two and one-third times the size of the Los Angeles total.

Seattle wins from Portland and Oakland in Class B.

Spokane wins in Class C, with Salt Lake, Tacoma and Honolulu finishing in the order named.

Berkeley and Pasadena win the two honors in Class D, with San Jose, San Diego, Ogden and Sacramento standing as named.

In Class E, Bakersfield, Eureka, Aberdeen, Reno and Alameda win the ship honors.

The highest percentage of oversubscription made by any of the cities in the five classes was that made by Bakersfield with subscriptions amounting to 254 per cent of its quota.

Los Angeles led in the total number of subscribers with a total of 246,001, which was 4735 more than San Francisco.

with motor trucks and other automobiles, accidental gunshot wounds occasionally, etc., and forty wards for the usual run of sick cases, such as mumps, diphtheria, influenza, pneumonia, and a rather violent form of diarrhoea which attacks the men every now and then.

We are all just as homesick as a lot of children might be who have had too much vacation away from papa and mamma. "When are we going home?" is the ceaseless question. We are all inclined to forget that we are still at war with Germany, and that we are just skin thickness away from the actual trenches. The Boche is plainly and decidedly beaten, true enough, but it is only an armistice just the same, peace is not signed yet. And the German treachery is too well known to take any chances, even now, with a possible turn of events from a lot of Kaiser-loving fanatics, of which there are thousands still. If the peace terms do not include the garrisoning of all Germany with allied troops for the next forty years, at German expense, until all debts are paid and all Kaiser-lovers are dead and buried, until Germany has forgotten how to make a gun or any other implement of war, the peace of the world will not be secure. For, though there is here the outward appearance of most sincere friendliness toward the Americans, these Germans cannot and will not credit any mention of a fact derogatory to Germany, intentionally preparing for offensive warfare, submarine outrages, dirtiest conceivable treachery by German soldiers in battle, unmentionable horrors perpetrated in France and Belgium and in all invaded countries, bombing of English and French cities until retaliation was simply compelled—all such mention receives a glassy eye and a deaf ear from these numerous Kaiser-lovers. The Americans here, not intentionally but because they just cannot help it, are showing continuous kindness to the Germans, who in return merely regard it as weakness on the part of the conquerors. Because we do not rob and pillage the whole area, they seem to think we are afraid to do it. They cannot understand our carefully paying for all we take. Well, so long, Fred. Best of luck to you and many thanks for the trouble your kindness is giving to my "real estate affairs." Best regards to Mrs. Cunningham.

Sincerely yours,
LESLIE C. KELLEY.

The Last Drive

The coming Victory Liberty Loan will be the last.

One more big job to pay for the victory—or the immediate demands of victory—and Liberty Loans will be history.

There must be no lagging by the American people in the drive that will come in April. It will not be a time for excuses.

The same spirit that characterized the last hour of fighting before the armistice went into effect should be shown by the stay-at-homes for whom the Yanks fought in France.

Here is the official report of operations in those last few hours of the war:

"The Third Division advanced three kilometers east of Breheville. Despite increased resistance by machine gun and artillery fire the Fifth Division continued to advance, capturing 18 prisoners, 3 large calibre guns, 6 minenwerfers and considerable material. In accordance with the terms of the armistice hostilities on the front of the American armies ceased at 11 a. m."

The Yanks didn't shirk that last job. Many gave their lives with peace a matter of minutes away. Every American at home worth the victory won by those boys in khaki will work as hard in the coming loan as in the first.

What They Expect

What do we expect of our boys as we see them coming back after their months of army discipline?

It is hard to tell. Different natures react to similar environment so differently. But we should prophesy that the army training will render them more exact in every way, that they will think less of the material side of life and more of its real intent, and that they will feel strongly the responsibilities and duties of citizenship.

What will they expect of us, changed by these months of watching and waiting? They will expect us to be more earnest, of wider sympathies and greater tolerance. If we have not gained these qualities our experience of war and grief and anxiety and sacrifice has done little for us.

A Question of Wages

The American Federation of Labor has approved and made public the recent report of its committee on reconstruction. This report embodies many interesting and more or less practical recommendations.

It ends, however, with the following remarks on the question of unemployment:

"Unemployment is due to under-consumption. Under-consumption is caused by low or insufficient wages. Give the workers just wages and their consuming capacity is correspondingly increased. A man's ability to consume is controlled by the wages received. Just wages will create a market at home which will far surpass any market which may exist elsewhere and will lessen unemployment."

With all due respect to the many excellent suggestions which the report contains, we take exception to the logic of this statement. It reminds us of the small town where the inhabitants "earned a precarious living by taking in each other's washing."

"Just wages," in the diction of the Federation of Labor, naturally means high wages. But it means, or should mean, a proportionate scale of wages applied to all industries. If the scale of wages is increased in any industry, the cost and selling price of the product increases in the same proportion. Hence the man who has had his wages raised to a "just" standard looks with amazement on the risen price of the articles which he wishes to buy. Nominally his wages are higher, but the purchasing power of them goes no further than before.

We are pleased to see improvement in the condition of the worker, but we think in this one instance the Federation of Labor is reasoning in a circle. Such reasoning ends where it began and arrives nowhere.

Conservation of dress material was urged upon women and they adopted narrow skirts. Now the railroads are finding fault because, owing to the narrow skirts, the trains are delayed an average of seventeen additional seconds at each stopping place. What is to be done? Will the Woman of America set in a breadth or must the timetables continue to suffer?

The government is requesting us to figure up our 1918 income, so that there will be no delay in turning in our income tax schedules at the proper time. It is also delicately hinting at the probability of a Victory Liberty Loan in the spring.

The National Drill for the people at home these last two years has been simple. Take—Pocketbook. Open—Pocketbook. Extract—Dollars. Pay—Taxes.

Germany has formed the habit of strife. If she cannot have war she Rhine or any other river, he ought to have it.

If you are tired, thin and thirty, be patient and have courage! You may be "fair, fat and forty" some day.

Had you, too, forgotten the enormous extent of Russia until you looked it up on the map day before yesterday.

A dollar is a man's best friend. It ought to be because man makes it. Yes, but oh, how often does the dollar make the man.

MRS. ETHEL M. COOLEY, LOCAL WOMAN, BACK FROM FRANCE

Mrs. Ethel M. Cooley, niece of the late Mrs. Timothy Guy Phelps and a member of the Redwood City Woman's Club, arrived in San Francisco from overseas this week. Mrs. Cooley comes direct from the Naval Base Hospital, Unit No. 2, to which she had been attached since the beginning of the war.

She volunteered her services at the beginning of the war, and was one of the first nurses to be sent overseas. Mrs. Cooley is the wife of Arthur Cooley of San Francisco.

Do not conclude, because you see a man coming out of a doctor's office, that he has something. Perhaps he has just paid his bill.

U. S. MARINETTES IN DRILL FORMATION

The 200 marinettes of the United States marine corps who are stationed in Washington have perfected their drill so that their appearance either singly or in drill formation excites the admiration of visitors to the capital. They are regularly enrolled in the corps as reserves, and though they are assigned to clerical duty they are under the same discipline as men. They wear practically the same kind of uniform, but for their skirts, and even do police duty. This picture shows them in drill formation back of the White House.

Princess Patricia of Connaught, about to marry for love, has folded up her title of princess, tied a blue ribbon about it and laid it away in the royal storehouse to await the next claimant. She will take her husband's name and title. "All for love and the world well lost," Princess Pat!

RED CROSS SHOP CLOSES ITS DOORS

TO-DAY WILL MARK THE END OF A UNIQUE AND SUCCESSFUL
BUSINESS ENTERPRISE.

When the key is turned in the door of the Red Cross Shop on Friday evening it will mark the end of one of the most unique and successful business enterprises ever launched in South San Francisco.

From its inception many months ago to the conclusion of its career the shop has been conducted with practically no outlay. The articles on sale were donated week after week by women workers of the Red Cross Society, there was no rent paid, no salaries paid, no "overhead expenses"—the entire receipts going to the Red Cross Society.

Mrs. E. C. Peck, who has been in charge of the shop, succeeding Mrs. Brady Wolfe, is preparing a financial statement, which will be published in the next issue of The Enterprise.

YEOMEN CARD PARTY.

A card party given by the Yeomen will be held in the Fraternal Hall, Wednesday, February 19. Score cards 25 cents. Remember the date, Wednesday, February 19, at 8:30 sharp.

When a man becomes so public spirited that he tries to mind everybody's business but his own, his bank commences to cut down his credit.

BONUS OF MONTHLY SALARY GIVEN BY W. P. FULLER & CO.

W. P. Fuller & Co. gave substantial recognition to the way the butcher and baker and candlestick maker have been tilting the price of their products, and the firm has given each of its employees a month's salary as a bonus.

Accompanying the very welcome contribution was a card reading:

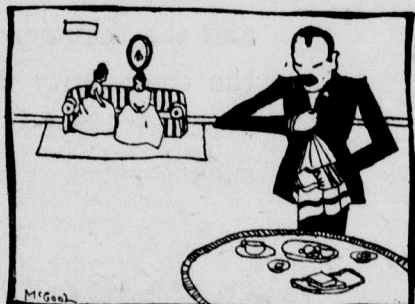

In recognition of the continued high cost of living we are pleased to hand you a bonus of a month's salary.

This must not be taken as a precedent. It is merely an effort on our part to make easier the present condition of living.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY SERVICES

The Christian Science Society of South San Francisco will hold services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. and services Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Fraternal Hall, Grand avenue, near Maple. Subject of lesson sermon, "Spirit."

ACTS OF LOVE.

The women of the British empire were requested to make an offering of pearls to the Red Cross. The request was sent out last March, with the expectation that a necklace of valuable pearls might possibly be obtained. Nearly four thousand pearls are now on hand, ready to be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross. They aggregate forty-one ropes, and each pearl means an individual sacrifice and an act of love.

LEARNED FLYING AT REDWOOD; WOMAN TO FLY FOR FUN NOW

Mrs. R. B. Newbre, a graduate of the Christofferson flying school at Redwood City, who is making her home at Los Gatos, is planning to make daily flights to San Francisco this spring, when the government lifts the ban on civilian flying.

Mrs. Newbre is the only licensed woman pilot in California. She is having her airplane overhauled at Redwood, preparatory to her coming aerial flights.

Mrs. Newbre was formerly Miss Helen Hodge, an Oakland society girl. Her father is J. B. Hodge, a lumber dealer of that city. She took up flying after her marriage, while her husband was at Fresno.

PREPARING WOMEN FOR CITIZENSHIP

That remarkable writer, Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson, who was the first woman ever elected to a State Senate, says in her new book, published by the Macmillan Company, and entitled "Preparing Women for Citizenship," that there are "three things the new woman voter must do if she wishes to be helpful to what has been aptly called the 'wholesale house-keeping' of her community, whether that community is a little windswept village of the plains or a big smoky city. First, she must open her eyes—and then, it may be, get eye-glasses. Second, she must become unanimous with herself. Third, she must become a stockholder in a power company." In vivid phrases Mrs. Robinson enlarges on these three necessities of good citizenship. "It is what we do between elections that really counts," she declares. "The vote is merely a condition for getting other things that are more essential," is another one of her epigrammatic philosophies. This book makes an appeal for the "steady mood of good citizenship," and the belief is expressed by the author that it is a mistaken theory of womankind that "her country is bounded by a wedding ring." "Where do we go from here?" is the name of a chapter of the book. The volume has so much "pep" that Mrs. Catt is led to comment: "No one can write more forcefully and literally, hitting the nail right on the head with an awful clip, than Helen Ring Robinson." In her book Mrs. Robinson has not omitted any of the logical demands to be claimed for women. It may be said that she evidences a thorough grasp of the whole feminist question, and is content to leave to men their proper sphere in the affairs of humanity, but she is jealous of the hundred per cent of rights to which her own sex is entitled.

YEOMEN MEET AND HAVE VERY ENJOYABLE EVENING

Bay City Homestead met Wednesday in Fraternal Hall with a large attendance. Following a very short business meeting, a pleasant evening was spent in playing games, etc. Mrs. Buehler, Miss Welte and Mr. Veit were the prize winners in the different games. At a late hour refreshments were served by the committee. It was a very enjoyable evening for those present.

Smart Frock for Youthful Wearers

The school girl or the college girl, whose retrospective mental glance takes in years of middies and skirts, will cast a fond and lingering look on the pretty two-piece frock shown above. It is not so different from the middy, having all its points of advantage in comfort and easy adjustment. But it has a style of its own, and that greatest of all allurements, it is in the mode. This is the two-piece street dress, with straight hanging over-garment, as worn by fashionable women, but so delightfully toned down into girlishness that the "sub-deb" or even the flapper may wear it.

The foundation of this good and smart model for youthful wearers, is a plain frock of serge or other stalwart wool cloth. The unadorned skirt and underbody are joined at the waist line and the close fitting coat sleeves set in a rather snug armhole. The sleeves are finished with a band cuff, being varied in this particular from those worn by older people which are very long and cuffed.

The over garment is sleeveless, with a border of silk braid about the bottom instead of the wide band of silk embroidery that enriches the dress for older women. Another modification for the sake of youthfulness is revealed in the substitution of a belt of the material (bound with braid) for the heavy cords and tassels of silk that are too rich for young wearers. The back hangs straight and the round neck is finished with a binding of braid. Plain silk, or satin, might be substituted for this braid. A very pretty finishing touch which delights everyone appears in the small flat bow of satin, with two long, hanging ends, placed at the back of the neck opening. The ends are finished with very short strands of beads. The flat buttons that are set in a row at each side may be of bone or mother-of-pearl and the front of the overdress is provided with slit pockets.

Burglars Will Not Visit Homes Where Electric Lights Are Numerous and Burning

Recently the home of a prominent resident of a nearby city was burglarized three times within a short space of time. The burglar was arrested and the owner determined to learn, if possible, what prompted this unusual series of robberies.

"It was the only house on the street that was dark," said the burglar. "Take a tip from me. If you don't want burglars, keep some lights burning at night."

New wiring devices make it possible to flash on every light in your house and garage from a switch beside your bed. What better burglar insurance and protection can you carry? When you go to the garage at night you can press a switch in the house and all the garage lights go on. When you return later with your car, press a switch in the garage and the lights in the house flash on.

Ask your electrical contractor or dealer to show you how these wonderful new devices operate.

RED CROSS WOMEN FEED YANK SAILORS

OTTO MELLECKER AND SHIP-
MATES GUESTS OF SOCIETY IN PARIS.

Mrs. Maxey is in receipt of the following letter from her brother, Otto Mellecker, who is serving in the navy:

January 10, 1919.

Dear Sister: Received a letter from you dated the 10th of December. Glad to hear that everything is all to the good with you there.

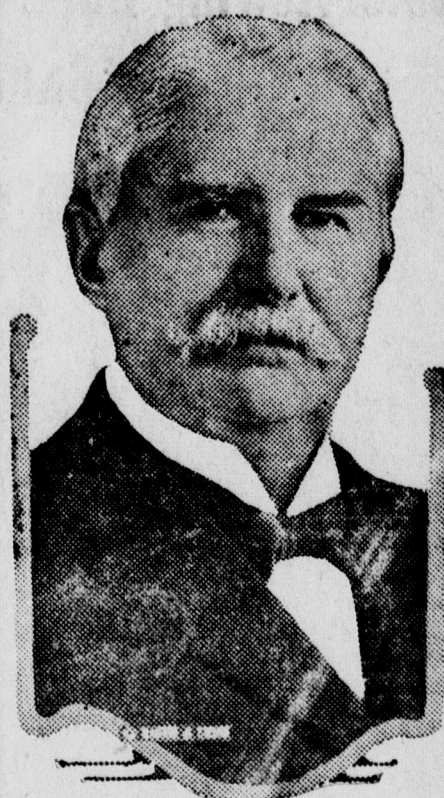

Had my little trip up to Paris and got back all to the good. Was pretty much all in, but sure had a good time up there. Quite a city and a lot to see. Sure looked good to us, as it is the first real city that we have been in since we left the U. S. A. Something doing there all the time. Was just getting acquainted good when we had to leave. Had a good time Christmas day. Dinner at the Red Cross and supper at the Y. M. C. A. Real feeds, too.

The Red Cross people sure treated us fine. All American girls there, and we made quite a hit with them. The last night that we were there a couple of the head ladies at the place invited four other fellows and I out to dinner with them, and, believe me, they sure gave us some feed, about as good as I ever had, at one of the best places in Paris. Sure cost them many "francs," but they did not seem to mind. Me for the Red Cross always. They sure have done a lot of good work here.

No definite news as to when we will get away from here, but expect to know before long. Report in to-day if it comes true does not sound very good, but sure hope that it does not come true.

Had a trip up to the front New Year's day. Went up to the battlefield of Ypres. They fought there all the way, and it sure showed it. The fellows that fought there sure had h—. Don't see how any one lived through it. Nothing but shell holes. Looks as if the ground had been plowed up. Nothing left standing. The town of Ypres is all shot to pieces. Not a building standing, and many other towns just the same. Went up as far as Lille. Quite a large town and not harmed much. Was quite a trip and surely saw a lot of things worth while.

Has not been cold here as yet and no snow. Same old rain though.

Will keep you posted at all times if we should make a move. Can keep on writing, as I may be here some time yet.

Will have to call this good for this time. Hope that this finds you and John in the best of everything at all times and all the rest there. Give them all my regards.

So long,

OTTO.

Interviewing Billie Burke

Bane of Reporter's Life.

BILLIE BURKE in "Eve's Daughter"
A Paramount Picture

That screen stars are busy people was amply demonstrated at the Paramount studios recently, when a reporter attempted to get a few words with that popular star. After over an hour of waiting he was admitted to her presence in the dusky recesses of the studio. But it was not to be. Constant interruptions from director, phone calls and what-not prevented anything further than the repeated assurance that Miss Burke was devoted to picture work and greatly preferred it to the stage, in fact. Personally, the reporter decided that he preferred almost anything to interviewing. Her latest picture, made under the direction of James Kirkwood, is "Eve's Daughter," Alicia Ramsey's play, which was produced on a Broadway stage this year with Grace George as the star. The story deals with the life of a girl suddenly left a little money by her father after a life of repression and hardship. How she nearly outsteps the bounds of convention, spending all her money in "one good time," only to be saved in time by the man who loves her and a girl she has helped, make up a thrilling and at times humorous story that will prove highly entertaining. "Eve's Daughter" will be shown on Tuesday at the Royal Theatre.

SERVICE BADGES ARE TO BE AWARDED RED CROSS WORKERS

Persons who have rendered faithful, self-sacrificing services on behalf of the American Red Cross during the time this country was at war, are to be awarded service badges. This information was received by the local chapter from the Pacific division headquarters in San Francisco. In order to be eligible for a service badge, the person must have given at least 800 hours of his or her time to the Red Cross, covering a period of six months. Applications for the badges in Redwood City are to be made to Mrs. A. Kincaid, chairman of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

EFFICIENT WORKER RECOGNIZED

Mrs. Finley Cook, formerly of San Mateo Park and at one time president of the San Mateo Woman's Club, who is now living in Berkeley, was named as vice-president of the San Francisco District Federation of Women's Clubs at the recent election. Mrs. Cook is chairman of the legislation for this district and has devoted much time to lecturing upon the subject during the past year. She is an enthusiastic worker, and is widely known throughout this district.

PUBLIC WELFARE WORK

Under this heading The Enterprise will publish weekly articles furnished by the San Mateo Conference of Social Agencies, dealing with public welfare work.

CHILDREN'S YEAR.

That the babies of a nation are its riches, and that they must be afforded, that they are always worth what they cost, is the new view point that we are learning now. If the horror of the war-cloud really has a silver lining, it is this: That wars, and the nations behind the wars, need above all other things, men, well and strong and intelligent men, and that all strong and well and intelligent men come from strong and well and intelligent babies.

Four years of war have brought this home to Europe, and deep as she has been in munitions and uniforms and camps, and soaked as she was in blood, Europe has turned from her guns to watch her babies. She is watching her mothers from the first hour in which the coming of the child is known. Mothers are being advised, helped and protected by a system that finds nothing too great and nothing too little to do for the citizen that is to be. She is taught to regard her baby as an asset, something of which she may be proud—her Service Star. Europe knows, and we of America are learning, that greater than our mines and forests and cities, in actual commercial value, are our babies, and more important than our financiers and statesmen are the women who bear them.

This year is "Children's Year." A country-wide campaign to save the children, and the mothers of children, is being carried on by two great organizations, the Child Conservation Section of the Field Division of the Council of National Defense, and the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. These are big names and behind them is an army of men and women whose work is so rapid in its growth that before you read this article, fresh strides will surely have carried the work far beyond anything I can foresee. The first directions that beginners have from Washington dwell on four essential things as the objective points of the whole plan. First, protection of motherhood and infancy. Second, making possible the care, by mothers, of older children. Third, enforcement of child labor and schooling laws. Fourth, protected and directed recreation for all children.

There are classes for expectant mothers, and the women who are interested in the work instruct them as to sterilizing bottles, making beds and the proper dressing of infants. Diets are given, instructions as to milk and milk modifiers, and the general conditions of the baby's environment are made as ideal as possible. The babies and children are card-catalogued, and a careful account of their health is kept.

Ignorance is not sin, but ignorance costs as much in blood and tears as sin does. Almost every woman who reads this article has had some such experience as this. Only a short time ago, while the epidemic of influenza raged, a devoted little mother was found hanging over a beautiful and dying child of three.

"He didn't want anything to eat," she explained. "I tried him on my coffee, and then I got him an ice-cream cone, but he didn't like it, and the only thing he's wanted was that pear."

The little boy, in a high fever, was gnawing a green pear.

His mother had lost other children; he was her only one, and she loved him with her whole agonized soul. The Children's Year was too late for her, but remember there are three hundred thousand like her in this great land of ours.
